BANQUET THEME "WE RESOLVE"

Fabrizius Toastmaster

Students Take Charge.

The first formal dinner of 1941 was held Thursday, Jan. 30, at the college dining hall, with Louis Fabrizio as toastmaster. The theme for this banquet was New Year's Resolutions. Guests of honor were Dr. Hatcher, Miss Wechsler, Professor Arnold, and his sister, Mrs. Ordal, and Edwin Wala.

Six students were entertained between courses by the men's quartet which sang "Climbin' up The Mountain Chorus" and "The Winter Song." Paulus Braudack sang "God Bless America." Community singing was again enjoyed by the group. The dinner was closed with the customary clapping of hands while singing "Auld Lang Syne."

A committee composed of two members from each of the three dormitories has taken complete charge of the formal dinners. The committee consists of Esther Weiss, Emma Klein, Karl Landweber, Rudy Andersen, Waldemar Giese, and Edwin A. Schick. Schick was elected chairman and Don Fritz as faculty advisor.

Plans for 75th Anniversary in the Making.

The Board of Regents of Wartburg college met Jan. 28 and 29 to transact their routine business and to discuss special projects discussed at this meeting concerned internal and external development of Wartburg colleges. They are making definite plans for the observance of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the school.

They are studying an improvement program for both of the lower divisions, some special classes mentioned were double-decker beds, more closet space, additional bathing facilities, and the like.

WARTBURG NIGHTINGALE

Mary Lyness, freshman, is shown above as she appeared when she sang "Jeanie with the Light Brown Hair" at the Plainfield musical show Jan. 30 and 31.

Miss Lyness has been selected to receive the Elizabeth Barney Schmidt award for aptitude in voice at Wartburg. The award, presented annually by Mrs. Schmidt, entitles her to free voice lessons during the second semester.

NARVIK MAYOR COMING MAR. 11

Norwegian Refugee
To Discuss Nazi
Invasion of Norway.

The Hon. Theodor Broch, heroic mayor of Narvik, Norway, will speak Tuesday, Mar. 11, on the Wartburg college artists' series, it was announced Monday by the artists' series committee.

Twice sentenced to death by the Nazis, Broch presents first-hand information on the situation in Norway at the time the Nazis made their daring invasion last spring.

Broch was mayor of Narvik when the Germans captured the Arctic circle city of 10,000 on April 9, 1940, and held it until May 28, when it was recaptured by the British, French, and Norwegians. It was abandoned by the Allies the middle of June.

Broch witnessed the destruction of two Norwegian ships by the Germans. First on April 9, 1940, and held it until May 28, when it was recaptured by the British, French, and Norwegians. It was abandoned by the Allies the middle of June.

It was on this day that Broch was first condemned to death, after he had removed the staff of the telephone and telegraph stations so these communications units were rendered useless to the Germans.

The city council obtained his parole on the grounds that he was badly needed in the administration of civic affairs. But when the Allies left Narvik he was again arrested and would have been shot had he not made his escape with his wife and little daughter.

Forced to leave his wife and small daughter in Norway, he proceeded alone over dangerous mountain passes, guided by a Lap, to Sweden.

He came to America by way of Russia and Japan, and since he made hundreds of lecture appearances.

The Wartburg committee was impressed by the fact that Broch's first lecture in Detroit brought him three return engagements. Prof. A. W. Swenson said.

COMMITTEES NOW OUTLINING NEW PROGRAM FOR A GREATER SCHOOL

College Working Along Lines as
of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Plans have rapidly been forwarded outlining a program for the external and internal development of Wartburg college similar to that suggested by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. This program has been in progress ever since it was determined that Waverly would be the permanent site of Wartburg college at the recent convention of the American Lutheran church in Detroit, Michigan.

DALE FRESE TO GOVT. POSITION

Frese, Wartburg Begin Duties as Civil Service Feb. 12.

Dale Frese, sophomore business student from Waverly, cancelled his enrollment last Tuesday to accept a position as stenographer in the service of the United States national defense program in Washington, D. C. He will leave on his new duties Feb. 10 at the Munitions building, having taken train route to Washington Thursday.

Ernest Winters, Jackson, Minn., a business student at Wartburg last year, accompanied him to take a similar position.

Bolt, a senior, passed his civil service examinations last summer. According to the records, only one other Wartburg student has ever been enrolled in the civil service.

The members of the Political Science class wish to extend an invitation to the students here for its next lecture period when Prof. Oltersberg has promised to discuss World War.

The North Central Association is the best known accrediting agency in the central part of the United States. To it belong nearly all well known schools as the Universities of Iowa, Minnesota and Illinois, the Grinnell, Drake, and many others in the same class. Membership in the N. C. A. would give Wartburg students who plan to continue work at schools accredited by the N. C. A. and other advantages.

To meet the requirements of such an association, a program is being outlined by the Wartburg college. The Wartburg college is planning internal affairs, advisory to the administration committee of the college, has studied all plans pertaining to internal development such as: curricula, admission and financial matters, the organization of faculty and student body, etc. This committee is composed of Dr. M. Wedderburn, Dr. J. H. Hatcher, and Dr. A. E. Hatcher.

One of the results of their study a committee on appointments was established to determine the number of appointments which will be necessary in the program of development. The committee is composed of Dr. G. J. Neumann, chairman, Dr. Hatcher, Dr. W. H. Catterman, Prof. A. E. Fritz, and Prof. A. Aarsdal.

The committee on appointments has decided the members of the educational policy committee which is primarily for the purpose of determining the educational program, particularly as related to accreditation of Wartburg college, will be Dr. G. J. Neumann, Dr. A. E. Hatcher, Dr. M. Wedderburn, Dr. A. D. Catterman, Prof. A. E. Fritz, and Dr. E. J. Braulich, ex officio.

Approved by Regents
The functions of this committee were established by the committee on appointments and approved by the Board of Regents and are as follows:

"Its first duties shall be, (1) to define the mutual relationship between the administrative and legislative organs of the college, to wit: the Board of Regents, the President, the administrative officers and the faculty and to study the relation of the college to the Board of Christian Higher Education and the Board of Trustees of Wartburg college; (2) to suggest to the faculty a reorganization of the set-up of faculty committees for the view of wider greater administrative efficiency."

The committee on external affairs, also advisory to the administrative committee of the college, is composed of Dr. G. J. Neumann, the physical facilities of the college and making recommendations for expansion, procedure and financing possibilities. This committee consists of Prof. A. W. Swenson, Dr. H. Hatcher, and Prof. C. G. Shalldhauser.

NEW STUDENTS ENROLL

Dorothy Krueger, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. George W. Krueger, Clinton, Ia., enrolling student here more in music. She attended Wartburg in her freshman year. New students are: Paul, Minn., enrolled as a freshman in pre-theology and graduated from Chicago City High school at Chicago City, Minn. He also attended St. Nicolai's Business college for eight months.

CHRIST—THE CHURCH—AND YOU

February 16 will enter in a week of Religious Emphasis on the Wartburg campus. The purpose of this annual program is to bring into our lives a deeper religious feeling and a closer communion with Christ. But, haven't we here at Wartburg got plenty of emphasis on religion all the time? True, we do, but our spiritual welfare is being taken too lightly for granted. Though we are constantly being exposed to the glorious message of Christ, we are not letting it penetrate into our hearts because we are spiritually asleep. Religious Emphasis week is the alarm clock which is to wake us from our spiritual lethargy. It should help us to take more interest in and to awaken our desire to carry on the fight for the cause of Christ.

It should help us to intensify our love for Christ, it should help to arouse in us an interest in the affairs of the church, and should help us to realize that religion is a personal matter for us.

Let us open our hearts to Christ and cooperate to make this Religious Emphasis week a "mountain-top experience" in the lives of us all. For Christ—for the church—for you.—R. W.

WE WELCOME ONE AND ALL

We've noticed that there has been no lack of cheering on the part of the student body at the basketball games. The students have been practically unanimous in their attendance, and their spirit has been running high.

But decidedly conspicuous by their absence have been the various members of the faculty. Three or four have attended every game. The rest just haven't been around.

The boys need the support of the faculty, too. A hearty invitation is extended to one and all.

Are You Backing the Team, Too, Boys?

I wonder how the boys feel when they get out there on the basketball floor wearing Wartburg colors as they face the opposing team just when the game is about to begin. Do they realize that everything that they do for the next hour is done in Wartburg's name and becomes a permanent part of the annals of her history? It seems to me that it must be something of a thrill and a source of pride to represent one's college with an audience of several hundred looking on. How does it feel, boys?

Do you feel the same pride and thrill during the grand of everyday life when you're just another member of the student body?

If you do, then that responsibility should weigh a bit heavily on your shoulders. For you are playing that game not only during those 40 minutes of active competition, but also several weeks before the opening gun.

Every time you are tempted by the temptation of smoking a cigarette, of eating forbidden candy, of staying up late at night, you're playing that game. It's only by preparing your body, keeping in condition that you have a chance to win.

When you violate these rules you aren't making yourself ill, nor will the coach and the students necessarily notice it from your appearance. But you're betraying a trust, a confidence placed in you that you will maintain a good attitude that is in your power, off and on the floor, to win for Wartburg.

The purpose of athletics is not only to train your bodies, but also your characters. We don't mind the loss of a few games, fellows, but we do mind it if you aren't willing to sacrifice a few personal pleasures to wear the Orange and Black.

It's for you that those cheering students sing the Wartburg fight song. Have you been there?

QUIPS & QUIRKS

the editor's desk

The freshman poets received their rather delayed initiation from the duffs of the upper classes. We understand that a good one was put by all.

In fact some were such excellent sports and were an incident in their ability to take it that they could rise early enough the following morning to call to the administration with a plea that "fables" be rendered. Evidently these loyal "fans" felt that their own situations needed no discipline.

We can't see it that way. We wonder if most disciplinary tribunals at Wartburg would take such a line of fresh initiation. What does the student body think about it? We like to hear your opinions.

Would it be fair Wartburg's male quartet choir? Would it be to educate its accomplishments if we were a bit more familiar with their work? We have no music critics.

All well, my now is it the best quartet Wartburg has had in years. We think it's "awful!"

Maybe the Trumpet has too many "columnsists." Surely it does go by, but the more student approaches we editor with the plea, "if such and such appears in a column, cut it, will you?" that the more columns bother them.

Orchids to Prof. Ottensberg for his splendid pep talk last Tuesday and at because we're a history major either. We know that a good professor never stands still long enough to be considered a well-positioned apple.

The regents have come and gone, leaving food for thought among the students in at least one case. Rev. Krebs' invocation sermon on the "Serenity" was received with more than a little interest.

And did we laugh to see that crab about the week and strong current of coming adjectives tumbled on the sound floor of the Luther hall the last day of the exams?

A recent poll taken of some of the students and faculty members at Upper Iowa brought the unanimous verdict: "Way is inevitable." Are they felicitous pessimists or do they simply say easy cases?

Some one recently observed with nice parody, "Greater love than this he has shown for another his last cigarette." Isn't it almost the truth?

We have been nothing short of astounded at the liberality of the administration in giving us a Holiday on Washington's birthday. See what we can do. . . . And why doesn't Lincoln raise?

A few years ago an editor of the Trumpet composed a few lines which incidentally made him funny. For the benefit of new readers we have never seen them we reprint:

The knight is cold.
The knight is cold.
The knight is cold.
The knight is cold.
The knight is cold.
The knight is cold.
The knight is cold.
The knight is cold.
The knight is cold.
The knight is cold.

I DON'T LIKE IT! I DON'T LIKE IT! I DON'T LIKE IT!

Merl not be out of line to have a column called "Critique" in the Editor's Office. It would be a way to give in after our last issue.

Don
You know that folks in the library that always collects those lines so happily? Well, read on and we'll tell you about him.

He tells us he was born Aug. 4, 1895, in Elm, Ia., that makes him about 45. He is a Rockwell township near Westbrook, Minn. He has been in the army for a year and a half. He is attending the Shady Nook school and later, he will be in the German where he was valedictorian of his class.

Here at Wartburg, Don is taking English 101. He is a very English major. He has been ambitious enough to acquire minors in Latin and French. He is a very Christian. Besides classes he's kept busy at his work in the library. He is a very good student, choir and Luther League.

Don't be envious or jealous of his success. He has a very good friendship, for that happens to a pet piece of his—also he has no time for those who are constantly griping.

In his spare time he develops his own reading books, and keeps scrapbooks, photograph albums, and a diary. He gets a lot of pleasure out of things, but especially does he like to read. He is a very good student, choir and Luther League.

His favorite artist is Nelson Eddy and he likes best to read the works of Browning. He says his highest hopes for the future are to be an able and efficient Lutheran pastor since he is rural or in an urban church, he will "pull himself" wholeheartedly into his chosen profession.

Do you know who this is? . . . Donald Gerald Connick.

Lord's Prayer, Novena Topics at Daily Convos

to bring the penitent sinner closer to his heavenly father. It is called Novena because the services are held in series of nine.

"There is only one form of prayer," said the Rev. C. H. Braulick, "and that is the communion of the believing heart with God. In church is the best place to pray because it is God's house. It reminds us of his willingness to listen and answer."

When a worshiper enters the church for participation in this form of service, he is given a printed sheet of prayers which are to be used as prayers or not as the occasion demands. During the service periods of silence are observed, each for a prayer for a very specific thing. Thus, the Novena gives each participant an opportunity to express himself to God in his own way.

On Wednesday, Jan. 29, Rev. Alfred Rausch of Red Oak spoke at the convocation assembly on the fourth petition of the Lord's Prayer. The words of the petition, "Give us this day our daily bread," presuppose three things, according to Rev. Rausch, trust in God, simplicity in living and a charitable attitude toward others.

Bread refers not only to our own loaves, sliced and delivered daily in wax paper to your nearest grocer. It means everything necessary for obtaining food for yourself and your family and does not include the luxuries of our lives.

"Daily" means just for today. Let us trust God for tomorrow. "Give us" obligate us to share with others that which God gives us.

Sweet: Slumber Condemned.

Elmer Johnson, senior pre-theological student, was featured in the Thursday, Jan. 29 convocation period at which time he presented a stirring oration on "Waking Up."

With great eloquence and a goodly amount of subtle wit, Mr. Johnson philosophized on the drawbacks of the modern generation and the inevitability of the greatest invention of the age—the alarm clock. "The words, 'The higher the civilization is, the longer they stay out at night and sleep,' are the words of the morning. . . . The trouble with most of us is we never properly wake up. The big job of a teacher is not to stuff a student with knowledge but to awaken him from mental lethargy. Alertness is a habit to be cultivated like any other."

The Lord's Prayer.

Pres. E. J. Braulick again spoke on Monday, Feb. 2, this time using as text the fifth petition of the Lord's Prayer, "Forgive us our trespasses as we forgive those who trespass against us."

In these words, explained Pres. Braulick, "We admit our guilt—our debt which is all around us." We know, however, that forgiveness comes to us for the

of Broadway Fame.

Appropriately enough, a new play to be presented by the Wartburg Dramatics club, Friday, Feb. 21, is entitled "Icebound." This play by Owen Davis is a Pulitzer prize winner, being the best play ever presented on Broadway for the year.

The play under the direction of Prof. John Torguig is the story of a hateful jealous Jordan family, sitting around waiting for the winter storm to die so that they will get her money. Imagine their consternation when the maid, one gets all the more money.

Jane Loves Ben!

However, Jane is in love with Ben Jordan, the most worthless and useless of the lot. What shall Jane do? Take her money and leave the man she loves to suffer for the wrong he has committed or to give Ben her love and money to help him out of his predicament?

The story takes place about the year 1922. Members of the cast have brought pictures of their families from that period. Costumes for the play will be designed from these pictures.

Members of the cast of twelve are: Henry Jordan, Vernon Sirempke, Emma, his wife, Helena, Mrs. Nettie, his sister, and a former marriage, Lois Harstad, Sadie Fellows, one Sadie Jordan, a widow, Joyce Martens, Orin, her son, Herman Kuhlmann; Ella asking, but we must at all times keep in mind the danger of these words, namely, that we are asking God to treat us as we treat our fellows in faith.

The sixth petition was discussed Wednesday, Feb. 5, by Rev. H. C. Schiffer of Getwell, Iowa, who explained that God does not customarily lead us into sin as these words lead us to be tempted. God permits us to be led into such conditions in order to strengthen us, and having given us as a free will he wants us to show him it is our desire to use it to do his will.

Things which seem the essence of goodness to us may be temptation itself. When we pray, then, we must earnestly mean what we say, and trust thereafter that the fortunate God sends us is His will.

Mezzo-Soprano

Miss May Harren, director of the Chicago Operatic Quartet, has been a member of the Chicago City Opera company since 1933, and is one of its leading stars.

ALUMNI

Article I—Name.

The name of this organization shall be "The Association of Alumni and Former Students of Wartburg College."

Article II—Membership.

(a) All those who were eligible for membership in the Alumni Association of the institutions now merged in Wartburg college, "The Wartburgers of Waverly," "St. Paul-Lutheran Science Alumni Association," and "The Z. L. C. Alumni" shall be eligible for membership in this association.

(b) All graduates of the merged Wartburg college and those students of this institution who have completed a minimum of one full year of academic work shall be eligible for membership in this association.

(c) Members of the faculty of Wartburg college not eligible for regular membership and friends who have rendered distinctive service to Wartburg college or any of the institutions merged therein may become honorary members of this association.

"BE FRUITFUL AND MULTIPLY"

That was the Lord's command concerning the human family from its very inception. That is the natural process of things in the physical world. Business needs to "be fruitful and multiply" in order to record the success it should.

Is it any different in our Alumni Association? To mark growth, to gain success, to be fruitful, we need "to multiply." The list of members, which invites graduates, former students, and friends of the college, should be multiplied many times over to be what a successful Alumni Association should be. This thought concerns us just now as we look toward spring and graduation. It cannot leave us as we let our thoughts go forward into the far distant future and dream and plan about the Great Wartburg college.

What can we do about this "being fruitful and multiplying"? Here is one suggestion. Let us build "Alumni Chapters" throughout the various sections of our country and church. Distance often prohibits willing minds from attending the annual alumni meeting at the college. Chapters organized and conveniently located would make several meetings a year possible. Two such groups are already in the making and ready to function. The Alumni Reorganization Committee will present plans and proposed constitutions for such chapters at the June meeting. May I ask for your opinions and suggestions. Our aim is: A Greater and Better Wartburg College for Our Young People and to the Glory of Our God.

LUTHERAN SCOUTS TRY THEIR "FIRST AID"

Playing an important part in the Lutheran youth program is the Lutheran Scout troop. Friday the Boy Scouts began the observance of the thirty-first anniversary of the Boy Scout movement in the United States. Here Don Staley, left, applies a bandage to the hand of Don Booth, who already has a face-arm bandage. The two young men, from the Lutheran Children's home, are members of the Lutheran Scout troop.

at 10 a. m. and continued till 2 p. m.

Jan. 21—Tonight, we, together with a group of fans from Waverly, form an enthusiastic cheering section for the Wartburg University of Dubuque basketball game. We cheer loud and long but we do not win. We number about 25. We tap our feet to the rhythm of "Storby" and his German band.

Jan. 22—During the Wartburg Hour of Prayer and Song Rev. Rappaport, senior, acted as speaker. Some of us help with the broadcast. Others of us attend a social sponsored by St. Peter's Lutheran League.

Jan. 27—The second semester begins. A new course in Family Sociology is offered by Rev. C. H. Becker, superintendent of the Lutheran Children's Home in Waverly, Iowa. Homiletics for the Rectors during the second semester in another innovation.

Jan. 28—Werner Spiegel, mid-dler, preaches his first English chapel sermon tonight. He is well received. Six of the brethren spend the evening photographing on the hillsy terrain to our east.

Jan. 29—Immediately after breakfast, on this Wednesday morning, Dr. J. Bodensieck, president of The Wartburg, acts as speaker during the weekly retreat.

Jan. 30—A round table discussion convenes in the council room of the administration building with Theophilus Gehbard leading. The subject under discussion is the problems of the Wartburg League. "Ben" Ackermann conducts services at the Dubuque City Mission at 7:30 p. m. in his accompanist is "Louie" Helm, junior.

Jan. 31—Ole Mathias, mid-dler, and Raymond Kreutziger, junior, visit this evening at the Sunny Crest tubercular sanatorium.

Feb. 1—Today a new student comes to join our brotherhood at The Wartburg. His name is Mr. Sam Stein, and comes to us from Capital University in Columbus, Ohio.

Feb. 2—The entire student body joins church in presenting "The Wartburg Hour of Prayer and Song." It is a song service; we sing two hymns and about seven well-known psalms. Leonard Frischel, president of the choir, and Dr. A. Jagnow direct our efforts. Fr-win Knitt, senior, acts as an-nouncer.

Feb. 3—The International Relations club assemblies for a brief meeting immediately after supper. The preaching schedules for chapel sermons are posted, and if our calculations are correct we will hear approximately 70 sermons between now and the end of the year.

Feb. 4—The choir secures permission to embark on a tour during the early part of May. It is suggested that we go to the Dakotas. We select the committee to make all necessary arrangements. The committee is composed of Edward Wagner, student senior, Theophilus Gehbard, mid-dler, and Theophilus Doyon, junior. Incidentally, these men are all natives of the sunshine state.

PHYSICS DEPT. ENTERTAINS THE SCIENCE CLUB

Group Learns of Relativity, Atoms Occillograph.

An explanation of the theory of Relativity, a description of atoms in a minute, and a demonstration of the use of the occillograph were the program at the February meeting of the Science Club on Friday evening, Feb. 7.

The speakers were introduced by Prof. Aurdal.

Dale Mathias reviewed for us the book "Pamphlets in Wonderland" by Gamow. This Pamphlet, an ordinary man, thru six fantastic dreams learns the elementary laws for the study of Relativity.

Paulus Braudick told of the importance of atoms, and their application to everyday life in his review of the book "Atoms in Action" by Russell Harrison. Arthur Mathias, assisted by Victor Heanig, explained first the cathode tube and its function in the occillograph, a machine which transforms sound waves into electrical impulses, and then into light waves, which are projected on the outside of the machine. At the close of the demonstration, the audience showed how a human voice looks, and others tried their voices on the "see sound box."

PLAN SERVICES TO DEDICATE PARISH HALL

Feb. 23, 24, 25
Dates for Opening of School Building.

Three days, Feb. 23, 24 and 25 have been set for the dedication of the new Lutheran church's parish hall, it has been announced. The three-day dedication will start with a special service Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, will continue through the afternoon and evening Sunday, and will be followed by special programs both Monday and Tuesday evenings.

The building will be completed for the dedication, Carl Drue, builder, announced Monday. Laying of the floor will be completed by the end of this week. Then only "cleaning up" installation of a few fixtures, and some decorating will remain to be done.

School Rooms Later
The school rooms, which will house the parochial school, probably will be completed by the time of dedication, so that the school probably will not be moved until shortly before Easter. Women will be able to take advantage of the spring vacation to move the equipment without interfering with the school work.

Program committees are at work on plans for the three-day celebration. Dedication plans now include an open house Sunday afternoon, a musicale in the evening, an operetta by the children of the parochial school Monday evening, and a banquet Tuesday evening.

The public is invited to attend all the dedication events. The Lutheran scout troop will be on hand on day Sunday to escort visitors through the building.

Frosh Sponsor Cupid's Night

The Freshman class will sponsor the annual Valentine party on Feb. 15. Deviating from an old custom, the committee in charge of entertainment have decided the party this year is to be a non-costume affair.

The committee has been working on decorations and entertainment for the past week and assure you that this year's party will far surpass the parties which have been held in previous years.

The entire Frosh class invites everyone to come to the all-candle Valentine party on Feb. 15 at 8:00 o'clock. You are all assured of a good time.

PLUNKING AT 10,000 FEET SERIOUS MATTERS SAY SOHIE (By A. C. P.)

"It would be bad," quips the Daily Texan, "if some of these CAA boys flunked a test, especially at 10,000 feet." In any case, however, there's a deal of professional coming these days in American camps about the merits of the federal government's flight-training program for college students. Some editors have voiced flat opposition, others go "all out" in their praise.

The Tribune-Herald also does neither, but it raises some pertinent questions: "Are the institutions of higher learning serving the broad purpose in following the narrow aims of this catch-up supporter from such education? And are they making their best contribution to peace by becoming coys in the program to educate youth for war?" Similar questions are raised by the Denver Post by an Editor Rhyme.

Charging "they call it the CIVIL aeronautics authority, but they mean MILITARY," aeronautics authority, the Daily Northwestern advises undergraduates as follows: "We neither recommend that you sign up for the program nor that you snub it absolutely. We ask you only to recognize that you are in effect, signing up for training in the military air force of the nation. Be under no delusion that this is simply an easy and cheap way to learn to fly with no strings attached." It isn't.

It would appear from an Associated Colgate Press survey that the pros outnumber the cons. Here are typical arguments of the Cornell Daily Sun: "Actually the CAA is not concerned with developing military pilots. It is training thousands of civilians who some day may want to own their own planes, or fly just for the pleasure and convenience of it. It is very likely that never again will students have an opportunity to learn to fly under such rigid conditions."

Michigan State News: "Turning out of crack pilots may have been the original purpose of the CAA courses. But it is in the sidekick of an equally important sidekick program is really going to click. Enormous strengthening of the national defense is vital. Public understanding of the aims and realization of the needs for flying is equally important. The biggest stumbling block that defense needs must encounter, CAA flying schools are already supplying much of that understanding and realization."

The Angeles, University of Scranton, feels "that the benefits are obvious. For $25 the student is given training valued at well over $500. For that education would be edged into the army after completion of the course has been shown to be false by experience of the students who are now licensed pilots."

The Kentuck Kernel: "CAA is perhaps the best method available for building a sound foundation for the army's air arm. There certainly is no method more democratic than that of CAA. With aviation apparently destined to play so large a role in the world's future, it is essential that schools assume the responsibility of training youth for that future. And since aviation necessarily demands intelligence, and since intelligent youth are most highly concentrated on the campus of the nation, it seems only just that the universities take the lead in schooling future pilots."

HERTEL TO RETURN TO WARTBURG

Prof. Elmer Hertel will return to the Wartburg faculty as "Dr. Hertel" next fall and will again head the school's department of biology, it was announced this week.

He will take the place of Dr. Walter Schaefer, who was brought to the college faculty three years ago to carry on Hertel's work while Hertel was on leave of absence at the University of Nebraska carrying on his work to a Ph. D. degree.

All other members of the faculty have been re-elected by the board of regents next year.

The regents authorized the executive committee to name a successor for the 50th anniversary of the college in 1943. The executive committee is expected to meet later in February to consider this and other matters.

belly God, holy Church, forgiveness of sins, resurrection of the body, life everlasting—he summed them all up in the one word "salvation." Now, sanctification is a term that belongs to ethics rather than to theology in the strict sense. And when we confess these articles, we are actually affirming that God is not only the source of life, but the source of God's life. So there are times when we shall be preoccupied with this third way of thinking about God: God is our ethical ideal, as to conduct in Jesus' own words: "Ye shall be perfect even as your heavenly Father is perfect."

Impossible! Yes; but remember, our creed makes affirmation about God, and religion, without meaning it this third great affirmation were wanting. For I insert that we are to God our conceptions of ethical perfection, what we ought to be and it gives expression to our profound gratitude that there is, outside of ourselves, a fountain of the Good.

WHAT CAN WE SAY ABOUT GOD?

It was a stroke of genius on the part of Luther when he undertook to explain the Apostles' Creed to the common man and divided it into three articles, calling the first "Of Creation," the second "Of Redemption," and the third "Of Sanctification."

I call it a stroke of genius, first because in so doing he broke away from the medieval legend that the twelve apostles had each contributed one of the twelve statements of the Creed, and secondly, because if we had asked Luther the question, "What can we say about God?" Luther would have answered without hesitation, "We can say about God what we always say about Him when we recite the Apostles' Creed, namely, that it is God who creates us, it is God who redeems us, and it is God who sanctifies us."

God the Creator.
In our minds, the religious thinking of the Christian is focused on three central experiences of God's grace. At certain times we are preoccupied with the thought of God as Creator, the source of all life and all existence. We are overwhelmed by the simple fact

KNIGHTS LOSE SIXTH GAME TO PENN TUESDAY

A well-balanced and fast Quaker quintet took the measure of the Wartburg Knights at the Waverly high school gymnasium last Tuesday night to the score of 50-34, completing six conference games for the Knights without a win.

The Knights started out prominently with two quick buckets by Ray Schuler, Knight center. Bob Husky Penn forward, then tied up the score with two goals, and a goal by Brown, Penn forward put the Quakers into the lead which they never relinquished. Landwehr and Harold Becker contributed baskets shortly before the half closed to bring the Knights within 5 points of the Quakers with the score 24-16 for Penn.

Trent, Negro center, led the quakers in the second half as the Quakers steadily drew away from the Knights. Only the accuracy of the Knights at the free throw line kept them within striking distance. Langholz, forward, and E. Obenaue sank two for good averages. Little Erwin Heist closed the scoring with a bucket in the closing minute to bring the score up to 50-34 for Penn.

Roe was high point man for Penn with 13 points while Trent was close behind with 12 points. For the Knights, Landwehr led with 8 points. The Knights scored 12 out of 19 shot goals against 14 for Penn.

Dubuque University's lead in the loop was tied when Simonson lowered Iowa Wesleyan's average Tuesday evening. This put the Norsmen of Dubuque in third place. However, Luther can average this shift Friday evening when they meet Simonson at Des Moines. Dubuque, which was literally thrown into first place will have a chance to protect their place in the standings when they meet Penn Friday evening.

If Simonson wins their two remaining road games this week, they can claim first place even if Dubuque wins its last game.

Wartburg and Western Union still remain in the close competition of the conference, but with a 40-39 victory over St. Ambrose to raise their average a little bit, Wartburg is in a better position to play in the conference this week. The standings also are for games played before Friday Feb. 7.

That's all for now; be seen you, MIKE

Behind The Varsity

WITH E. A. SCHICK

School Spirit.

In the wake of repeated basketball defeats there ripples at least one encouraging wave, namely, the unquenchable school spirit of the Wartburg student body. Rocking the rafters with shouts and yells from the opening to the final whistle are the loyal Wartburgers inspiring the Knights to harder, more furious basketball. The reason is simple. The student body realizes that one of those nine times their support will mean victory. And by the looks of things they were denied much longer. How about it, Knights?

If you ever heard more yelling than that of the college cheering section in the Buena Vista feud I would like to know about it. And how about the Penn game. We were defeated, sure, but not the Wartburg spirit! The jeering was perhaps not called for, but let's keep up the good support!

Cheerleaders.

Wartburg's two blind cheerleaders are certainly doing a commendable piece of work. Are they to be rewarded for their efforts? How about providing letters for the Misses Poe and Harstad? The activities committee appropriated funds for the purchase of new uniforms. Are they to be bought at the close of the season?

Intramurals.

Coach Hank's intramural program can certainly be declared a success. In the first period, which was just completed, only one game was forfeited by a team's failure to appear at starting time. Schuler's Rose Bowlers topped the list with five wins and one defeat. The Hermonites were in the cellar with one win and five defeats, and yet the two closest games were played when these two teams met. In the first game it took the Rose Bowlers two overtime periods to beat out a victory while in the second game Schuler's quintet won by a single point.

Future Games.

Wartburg is still in the midst of Iowa Conference competition. Tonight, Feb. 8, they meet the Norsmen from Luther on the local floor. On Feb. 11 they travel to Oskaloosa to fight the Penn Quakers. When Western Union plays here on Feb. 13 and Dubuque here on Feb. 18, Wartburg concludes the home basketball schedule.

Musings.

Harold Becker finally got a chance to strut his stuff in the Penn game. And a fine job he did too! Little Erwin Heist also did all right by himself. He's an up-and-coming Knight basketball player. It really isn't hard in trying to have the farm boys yell for you. How about it, Tuffy Obenaue and Dagwood Shuler? I've just been wondering where Miss Poe got that "pull" with Prof. Ottersberg. Prof. certainly gave a pep talk and Poe really blushed. Charming wasn't she?

Let's extend our hands to the Buena Vista Beavers for pulling an upset. They beat the St. Ambrose Bees 41 to 12. Landwehr's fakes and hook shots in the Upper Iowa encounter were something to write home about!

The local squad increased in size. Pete Petersen and Gulp Winterfeld are practicing regularly.

Opposing the Luther quintet will probably be Shuler, Strohm, the two Obenaues, and M. Heist. Dick Landwehr will see plenty of action.

Knights Drop Fifth Loop Encounter 57-31

LOCAL LEAD MELTS EARLY

Heist Again Hits on Average Score to Pace Knights Friday.

After holding a slight lead midway on the first half, the Wartburg Knights were unable to hold the University of Upper Iowa quiet and lost their fifth straight Iowa conference clash at Fayette Friday night by the score of 57-31.

In the opening minutes of the first half the Knights finished a strong offense and led by Heist and several tricky shots by Richard Landwehr the Knights led the Peacocks 11-9 at the end of the first quarter. At this point the Knight defense melted and the Peacocks took over the lead and were never threatened as they led 27-16 at the half period.

In the second half the Upper Iowa quiet substituted frequently but the Knights were unable to close the gap as the Peacocks penetrated the Knight defense with ease. The game ended with the Peacocks leading 57-31.

Webb, tall Peacock forward, controlled the scoring with 14 and 13 points respectively, to score almost half of the Peacock points.

INTRAMURALS IN SECOND ROUND

Hermonites Lose Close Battle to Champions of Initial Round.

The second round of the Wartburg intramural basketball league got under way with all of the teams going into action during the first week. All indications point to a fairly even battle. A few changes were made in the original lineup. All the games will be played in the college gym with the public is invited to see them. Weekly schedules will be posted on the main bulletin board and in the gym.

Globe Trotters 34, Badgers 19. In the first game of the second round the Globe Trotters made it known that they were out for first position by smothering the Badgers 34-19. The Globe Trotters jumped to an early lead and were never headed. Messen led the winners attack with 16 points, while Sandrock scored 8 points to lead the Badgers.

Rosecholvers 28, Hermonites 27. Another one of those killer-dillers the Rosecholvers, champions of the first round, edged out the Hermonites 28-27. The Hermonites were ahead all of the way until the Rosecholvers, headed by Captain Schuler, who made four baskets in the last 10 minutes, suddenly came to life to beat the lead and the game. Schuler led his team to victory with a total of 18 points, while Captain Harmon of the Hermonites dropped to 40 points to lead his team's scoring.

I was asleep—Yes, even sports editors dream occasionally. At this particular time I visualized the Wartburg Knights playing the Luther Norsmen. And a fast and furious game that was! The final score was 51 to 51. The overtime period had just started. Tuffy Obenaue was dribbling down the floor for a setup when brother Becker rudely awoke me from my dream and yelled, "Time for breakfast!" I still don't know whether Tuffy made the basket or not, but I imagine we can safely assume that he did and that the Knights won the game. The Knights can finish the dream for me when they battle the Norsmen tonight!
